Everyone
dreams of that teenage romance that lasts for the rest of their lives. But the problem with teenage

romances is that they involve teenagers,

and all their silly, immature
ways.
Matthew and Ashlee were two such childhood sweethearts, madly in love with each other. But things took a turn for the worst when her father died. Her father had been a father-figure to Matthew, so rather than being able to offer her comfort in her time of need, he too was consumed by grief. Ashlee read this as a lack of care, and Matthew read her anger as rejection. As a result, the two broke up right before she moved across the county to start college. Now, it is ten years later, and Ashlee is facing yet another crisis. This time, her mother is suffering from cancer, and she is moving back to their old town where she can receive affordable treatment—from none other than Matthew.. Ashlee moves back as well to support her mother, and seeing Matthew again begins to stir up old feelings. Will these childhood sweethearts overcome the odds to be together? Or will time and heartache prove to be too much? Dr. Brooks CreateSpace Enjoy this billionaire doctor romance at a terrific discount. Dr. Damon Chase just saved my life, going over my doctor's head to perform life-saving surgery. He's taken me from wondering if I'll die soon to looking forward to my life, and I'm falling for him fast and hard. There are just two problems. The first one is that the medical ethics board won't look kindly on a senior cardiologist sleeping with any of his patients, let alone a college student just over half his age. The second is that Damon is a man full of secrets. I can sense it. But what can they be? And how can I get him past them, so that I can have him in my arms?

 Ross I'm a catch and every woman knows it. I have the deft fingers of a surgeon. And a loaded bank account to match. I can have any woman, in any room, at any time. I have them coming at me (and on me) in droves. When I see her across the room, red hair curling around her open, honest face, I know that I need her in my bed. What I never expected is that she'd find her way into my heart. Sharon! don't do flings.

Or at least I thought I didn't until Mr. Tall, Dark, and Handsome corners me at the first charity gala that I host for Hearts in Hands. I find myself saying yes and following him home. His eyes.  Can a successful doctor, who's closed herself off from love, and a billionaire surgeon, who sees marriage as a noose, find the courage to confront their fears and take a chance on love when they end up in a fake engagement?
 Rising-star surgical resident, Dr. Dana Adams, has closed herself off from love because of past trauma and the pressure of her demanding career. Fellow surgical resident, Dr. Josh Roman, is determined to break free from his father's control and pursue his dreams of owning a sports team. When he inherits his grandmother's vast estate—one that makes him a billionaire—Josh sees it as his chance to do so. But there is one condition: he has to get engaged within thirty days or lose everything. Desperate to escape his father's arranged date, Josh runs into Dana, his friend's roommate, at the venue and spontaneously announces her as his fake fiancée. As they navigate the charade of their engagement, the lines between fake and real blur. Will they confront their past traumas and open their hearts to the possibility of love, or will the ticking clock of the engagement deadline and their deep-rooted issues and secrets keep them from the chance of a lifetime?  Book One: Mised Karen Carver is a doctor who volunteers at a free clinic two days a week. The clinic is run by a local corporation, Gregory Industries. Its founder, Benton Gregory, was raised in the same neighborhood where the clinic is located. Karen, often frustrated by the lack of available budget at the clinic, agrees to help investigate missing medications when a man she believes to be Gregory Industries' accountant asks for her assistance. Karen, single for far too long, finds the accountant overwhelmingly attractive. When they meet again so she can report what she has discovered, she finds it difficult to concentrate on anything other than the dimple in his cheek. However, just as she is beginning to give in to the attraction she feels for him, she learns that he is not who she thinks he is. The accountant, it turns out, is actually Benton Gregory himself. Karen was raised by a self-made man, a father with a quick temper. Karen has made it her goal not to be anything like her father. Therefore, when Benton asks her out to dinner in an effort to apologize for misleading her, she refuses. The last thing she wants is a man like her father in her life and that is exactly what Benton appears to be. It would be much easier to resist his constant advances, if he wasn't the most attractive man Karen has ever met. Book Two: Misunderstood Dr. Karen Carver has spent five years trying to put her past behind her and move on. She rarely trusts easily. This is the case with Benton

Gregory, the billionaire business man whose corporation runs the free clinic where Karen volunteers her afternoons two days a week. But when he pushed his way into her life, she gave an inch and watched him walk away as though her offer had no meaning to him. Karen runs into Benton at the free clinic, only to have him look through her as though she is not even there. Then she discovers that her father, the one man who has destroyed her ability to trust, is trying to thrust his way back into her life. When Benton shows up to ask for forgiveness, Karen turns to him for the oblivion she craves to forget her past once again. But when the two men come face to face, Karen finds herself in the middle of a battle she doesn't understand and one in which she has no idea which side to choose. Book Three: Miscomputed Dr. Karen Carver is the daughter of a controlling man who is unhappy with her professional choices. In an attempt to force her back into his clutches, he offers her an ultimatum: come home or she will not have a part in the assets her mother intended for Karen to have. At the same time, Karen finds herself caught between the man she thought was interested in her and an investigation into wrong doings at the free clinic where she volunteers her time. Karen engages a lawyer to handle her father, but steps away from the free clinic in an attempt to protect her heart from the lies and deception of its founder. However, when Benton Gregory lands on her doorstep and insists that the assertion by Dee Walton that he was her boyfriend was false. In fact, Benton was only with Dee in an attempt to find proof that she is the one who has been stealing from the free clinic. Karen's only experience with men is the overbearing ways of her father. At the same time she is trying to break free from his control, she finds herself increasingly drawn to a man who has the power to either make her happier than she ever imagined she could be, or destroy her so completely she would likely never recover.

Falling for the Billionaire Doc Mills & Boon They say no one dies in witness protection. Oh, if only that were true... Jason's cool, shrewd, and detached from society. He's had to be. Running from his father's criminal associates and past indiscretions hasn't left him with a lot of time to relax and enjoy life. But all that is about to change. He's finally in a position to testify against his father and start a new life, complete with a brand new identity, courtesy of WITSEC. What he never expected was to unwittingly drag an innocent — and exasperating — woman along with him. Alexandra lives life to the fullest. She's selfless, outgoing, and always willing to help her fellow man. As a doctor, those traits served her well. Until the day that saving a stranger triggered a killer case of mistaken identity that landed her in WITSEC alongside Jason, a man as enticing as he is challenging. It's not long before Jason and Alex form an unlikely bond—and an even likelier attraction. But when their enemies close in and a family emergency forces Alex out of hiding, Jason must decide if sticking to the rules of protection is more important than safeguarding the woman who stole his heart...

Her Billionaire Internist Allie Boniface Michelle Carter has been down on her luck since the day she was born. So it comes as no surprise when through a series of unfortunate events, she finds herself jobless, penniless, and practically homeless. In a desperate attempt to get back on her feet, Michelle accepts a job as a nanny, and finds it absolutely impossible to resist the sexual magnetism of her handsome, sexy billionaire boss--but resist she must for as long as she could, especially since she's keeping secrets from him. Believing that his late wife betrayed him with another man, falling in love again is the last thing Dr. Erik LaCrosse wants to do. But fall, he does, and so hard, he secretly marries the alluring nanny from the wrong side of the tracks. However, when he unearths a disturbing secret from Michelle's past, Erik must choose between his loyalty to a dead woman and the love burning in his heart for one who is very much alive.
