Through a succession of increasingly bizarre murders, a Seattle killer re-creates the nine circles of hell depicted in Dante's Inferno, wreaking eternal suffering across the city. Seattle's only hope rests with an unlikely pair: Detective Robi Darcmel, whose high-functioning autism allows him to see patterns where no one else can, and Janey Doe, a young mute girl Darc rescued from the murderer's grasp. She holds the key to stopping the killer's madness -- that is, if Darc can understand her. As Darc and Janey struggle to communicate despite their individual limitations, the killer readies his master plan. If Darc is unable to decode Janey's role in it, the whole of Seattle and millions of lives stand on the brink of destruction.

And after a brief but passionate affair, she knows Cam almost as well. What she doesn't know is that her high-profile involvement in the case has caught the twisted predator's eye--and sparked his fury. When Sophia suddenly vanishes, Cam and his team shift into overdrive to keep horrific history from repeating itself. But for Sophia, being trapped in the same isolated lair where so much innocent blood has been spilled may get her inside her vicious captor's head--and may offer her the only chance she has to escape an agonizing and lethal fate.
