Probation Assistant Career Examination

"It is both an honor and privilege to write the foreword for this book authored by Dr. Jeff Bernstein, a personal friend, and colleague who I have known for over 30 years. Over that time, I have served as a police chief with two police agencies and served as the president for both the Florida Police Chief Association and the International Association of Chiefs of Police. I have conducted numerous police promotional processes for the ranks of sergeant to police chief, and as a lawyer I have been used as a subject matter expert in promotional processes on police practices. Currently, I serve as a presidentially appointed U.S. Marshal in the State of Florida. Dr. Jeff Bernstein, the coauthor of this book, and I have worked closely together in preparing police officers for promotional exams. He is without question the No. 1 authority on police promotional exam preparation in the country. As one of the nation's top experts in police supervision, Nathan Iannone asked Dr. Bernstein numerous times to revise his original book and update his book to be contemporary with the times. Prentice Hall also asked Dr. Bernstein to write the first official study guide for the book. The textbook you are about to read is a long-time best seller. It has been on more law enforcement promotional exam reading lists than any other book. It's considered by many to be the "Bible of Police Supervision." If you have this in your hands right now, you're probably studying for a promotional exam or taking a police supervision college class. This book is the authority in the field and addresses everything a police supervisor should know. Making a successful transition from officer to supervisor is reviewed in the book. Basic supervisory responsibilities such as training, coaching, and counseling are discussed in the book. Dealing with citizen complaints, problem employees, and tactical deployment of field forces in critical situations are all covered in the book. After reviewing and studying these areas, you will have a much better understanding of how to handle these types of situations as a supervisor or manager. A new feature to this edition is that the key points in the book have already been identified by Dr. Bernstein for you. They will help you to do better on the exam you have to take as well as be a better supervisor or manager. Every day in every police department across the country supervisors deal with employees, citizens, peers, bosses, and unique situations they encounter on the street. You will find this book to be an excellent guide in regard to dealing with these individuals and situations. The kinds of things that every supervisor or manager should know are in this book! Finally, as you're reading this book, always keep your ultimate goal in mind. Whether it's to get the promotion you want or to be a better supervisor or manager, never lose sight of it. If you're ready to become a leader, study hard and stay focused. If you're tired of doing what you're doing and want to move up the ladder, study hard and stay focused. If you study hard, stay focused, and internalize the teachings of this book, you will be that much closer to achieving your ultimate goal. I wish you all the best. William "Bill" Berger"--

From award-winning higher education journalist and New York Times bestselling author Jeffrey Selingo comes a revealing look from inside the admissions office—one that identifies surprising strategies that will aid in the college search. Getting into a top-ranked college has never seemed more impossible, with acceptance rates at some elite universities dipping into the single digits. In Who Gets In and Why, journalist and higher education expert Jeffrey Selingo dispels entrenched notions of how to compete and win at the admissions game, and reveals that teenagers and parents have much to gain by broadening their notion of what qualifies as a “good college.” Hint: it’s not all about the sticker on the car window. Selingo, who was embedded in three different admissions offices—a selective private university, a leading liberal arts college, and a flagship public campus—closely observed gatekeepers as they made their often agonizing and sometimes life-changing decisions. He also followed select students and their parents, and he traveled around the country meeting with high school counselors, marketers, behind-the-scenes consultants, and college rankers. While many have long believed that admissions is merit-based, rewarding the best students, Who Gets In and Why presents a more complicated truth, showing that “who gets in” is frequently more about the college’s agenda than the applicant. In a world where thousands of equally qualified students vie for a fixed number of spots at elite institutions, admissions officers often make split-second decisions based on a variety of factors—like diversity, money, and, ultimately, whether a student will enroll if accepted. One of the most insightful books ever about “getting in” and what higher education has become, Who Gets In and Why not only provides an unusually intimate look at how admissions decisions get made, but guides prospective students on how to honestly assess their strengths and match with the schools that will best serve their interests.

In so many ways, Reggie Williams has had the type of life that people dream of: he starred as an athlete, excelled with an Ivy League education, built a sports empire as part of an iconic corporate brand, achieved global impact as a public servant, and won major honors for his community work. Along the way, Williams glowed on the biggest stages alongside celebrities, business leaders, and social icons. Yet Williams’s life has also presented a nightmare—and a determined mission to score another victory—with the battle to save his right leg from amputation. The residual effects of a fourteen-year career as an NFL linebacker has challenged Williams—who has undergone twenty-eight surgeries for football injuries, including multiple knee replacement operations—to draw on the resilience that has been at the foundation of his rise from the beginning. In Resilient by Nature, Williams provides an intimate account of his remarkable journey while also sharing his unique perspectives on a wide variety of issues.

The son of Sogolon, the hunchback princess, and Maghan, known as "the handsome", Sundiata grew up to fulfill the prophesies of the soothsayers that he would unite the twelve kingdoms of Mali into one of the most powerful empires ever known in Africa, which at its peak stretched right across the savanna belt from the shores of the Atlantic to the dusty walls of Timbuktu. Retold by generations of griots, the guardians of African culture, this oral tradition has been handed down from the thirteenth century and captures all the mystery and majesty of medieval African kingship. It is an epic tale, part history and part legend.

Through wonderfully detailed letters, recruit rosters, and pension records, Edythe Ann Quinn shares the story of thirty-five African American Civil War soldiers and the United States Colored Troop (USCT) regiments with which they served. Associated with The Hills community in Westchester County, New York, the soldiers served in three regiments: the 29th Connecticut Infantry, 14th Rhode Island Heavy Artillery (11th USCT), and the 20th USCT. The thirty-sixth Hills man served in the Navy. Their ties to family, land, church, school, and occupational experiences at home buffered the brutal indifference of boredom and battle, the ravages of illness, the deprivations of unequal pay, and the hostility of some commissioned officers and white troops. At the same time, their service among kith and kin bolstered their determination and pride. They marched together, first as raw recruits, and finally as seasoned veterans, welcomed home by generals, politicians, and above all, their families and friends.

"Just A Couple of Chickens" is a genuinely enjoyable read. Laugh out loud funny, informative and utterly timely. It is a poignant and very real story of one family's poultry raising adventure during a five-year crucible of economic and identity crisis that took on national relevance when their contracting business collapsed under the first wave of the economic crash in 2008. Their story hits home with heart-breaking reality. While getting a couple of chickens may have been Andrew's idea, Corinne was the one who took it over the top with thirty fluffy pheasant, five and twenty chickens, over forty Chukar, and fifteen ducklings. There were also twelve smelly quail, nine girl geese, two roosters, and a partridge in a pine tree. They were farming by Internet on a two-acre parcel near Santa Fe, New Mexico, scrabbling through the canyon that separates knowledge and experience when it comes to raising poultry. Corinne created www.TheFeatheredEgg.com a web-based business that arose like a phoenix from the eggs and feathers from the flock. She approaches her role as mother, wife, and businessman with a unique perspective that she captures with droll clarity and good humor. Chicken farming was only the most recent use of her BA in Industrial/Scientific Photography from the Brooks Institute of Photography. This book is yet another, featuring her portraits of the family's feathered friends.
